ANNUAL MEETING RETAIL MERCHANTS SEPTEMBER 13-14

Jackson, Miss.—A record number of Mississippi retailers are expected to attend the third annual meeting of the Mississippi Retail Merchants Association in Biloxi, September 13-14. J. Army Brown, Jackson, chairman of the annual meeting, and his committee, have planned an action-packed two-day event to be held at the Buena Vista Hotel which will attract both member and non-member retailers. A full schedule of entertainment, information and business is set, according to Brown, with J. O. Emmerich, Jackson and McComb editor, as the luncheon speaker, and the hilariously funny "Cajun" storyteller, Justin Wilson, Baton Rouge, as the banquet speaker. President W. E. Walker, Jr., Columbia, is to preside over the business session Monday morning. High on the agenda for action by the association is the election of new board members and the adoption of the MRMA's legislative program.

NATIONAL GUARD TO MEET IN JACKSON

During the two day convention the officers of the National Guard will be addressed by the Honorable Arthur Winstead and such leaders of the National Guard as Major General William P. Wilson, Adjutant General of the State of Mississippi; Lt. General Alexander G. Paxton (Ret.), former commander of the famed 31st (Dixie) Division; and Major General W. H. Harrison, Jr., President of the National Guard Association of the United States. Highlights of the convention will be a Dinner and Military Ball for the officers and their ladies to be held Saturday night.

The Industrial Development Committee of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, which has been making a labor survey in this area, for the past several weeks, reports that returns are coming in at a rapid rate and that prospects appear very promising for the future of the area.

At present there are 600 returns and they are very much diversified, which is most interesting. The list by careful study, shows the people, who are presently employed in other sections of the country, would be more than glad to return to the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County area, if suitable jobs were available. This is a very good indication as we would be in a position to offer labor to a greater number of industries. The survey shows the different classifications available such as bank tellers, welders, painters, sheet metal workers, office workers, plumbers, electrical workers, teachers, craftsmen, pumper for chemical plant, automobile mechanics, boat carpenters, textile weavers, garment workers, these are just some of the classifications.

The survey shows quite a number of people from Pearl River and Harrison Counties who would like to work in our area, if jobs were available. Your committee would like to hear from more people regarding the labor survey, as the broader the survey, the better chance we have in bringing industry in. With the reduction of the highway bridge toll to five cents a ride, it would be very easy for people in Harrison County to work in the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County area. The committee is endeavoring to reach a pool of 1000 employees of various trades. They are very eager to complete the labor survey in order to be able to go ahead with the industrial brochure. Any help from various churches and organizations would be greatly appreciated. Labor survey forms are available at the Commerce office and will be mailed out at your request.

Garden Club Meeting Set For Sept. 10th.

LEAVE FOR GERMANY

Mrs. Alfred F. Tillman, the former Betty Ann Fuch, and son, Larry, left September 1, for Idar Overstine, Germany, where they will join M/Sgt. Tillman and make their home for the next three years.

M/Sgt. Tillman who was stationed at Fort Polk, La., left for Germany June 2 where he will serve as operating room supervisor at the 58th Medical Hospital in Idar Overstine. Mrs. Tillman and son will spend a few days in New York prior to their departure for Europe.

An antique buggy of an 1899 fire chief was recently featured in the lobby of a New York Bank. Receptionists became so intrigued they dressed in costume to fit the period.

The number of bank checks drawn each year has increased 10 per cent a year for more than a decade and by 1970, it is predicted, 22 billion checks will be processed a year.

Court and others, and is widely experienced in labor matters. A talk on "How the Small Business Administration Can Assist the Retail Merchant" will be given by James F. Hollingsworth, Atlanta, regional director of the Small Business Administration. Brown states that among the other attractions of the Gulf Coast event are a seafood luncheon, golf tournament with prizes, two social hours, and games for all the ladies. Admission to the luncheon and the other attractions is $2.00. Tickets are available at the Mississippi Workman's Compensation Law.

Topics of interest to retailers will be discussed during the business session when Joe Jack Hurst, Jackson attorney with a wide experience in labor matters, taxation and general civil matters, speaks on labor relations in retailing. Hurst has practiced before the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, the Mississippi Supreme Court, the U. S. Supreme Court, the U. S. Tax

SECOND PRIMARY VOTE CANVASS BY STATE DEMOS

Jackson, Miss.—The Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee voted Tuesday to invite party chairmen from 10 Southern states to the Citizens' Council forum banquet here next Tuesday. The state committee met in the Senate chamber to go over the vote in last week's party primary runoff. The committee congratulated and pledged support to Gov-elect Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, Jr. The official count from the August 25 runoff for governor gave Barnett 230,557 votes to 193,706 for Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin. The count in the race for state tax collector gave incumbent William Winter 232,791 to 178,981 for John Whitfield Birdsong. The two contests were the only state-wide races last week. The committee went over returns from district attorney races in addition to the state elections. It also called for legislation requiring counties to put voting machines in all precincts with more than 500 voters. A demand for voting machines came after the August 4 primary returns took two days to come in from many large precincts. The committee urged the next Legislature to raise the pay of all election officials to $10 per day, to require continuous tabulations until each box is finished, and to require county chairmen and to name instructors for a one-day election school for all officials involved.

NEW CHEMICAL HELPS RADIATION CANCER MEDICINE

University Park, Pa.—A chemical substance which fools human cells may blaze a new trail in the radiation treatment of cancer. This was reported today by Dr. Wladlaw T. Skrzybski of the Rutgers Institute of Microbiology. He said the substance, in tube tests on human cells, has shown dramatic powers of increasing a cell's sensitivity to X-ray and other forms of radiation. He told the annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences that the chemical, a "fraudulent compound" in that it fools a growing cell into believing it is a material the cell normally requires in multiplying. This is no reflection on the safety of human cells, he indicated, because the impersonator chemical, called "BUDB" for short—is actually very closely similar chemically to the material the cell normally uses. The latter substance is thymidine, a normal building block of the heredity-bearing chemical known as DNA. DNA is one of the most essential and highly complex components of all living cells. Dr. Skrzybski said the findings suggest the possibility of making cancerous cells more susceptible to radiation—that is, to a smaller dose would kill them. He added this would be in contrast to present attempts to increasing the sensitivity of cells to radiation by making them more susceptible to radiation. He said, in some laboratory studies and high doses of radiation to the cancerous cells, the potential in the use of the chemical was shown to be normal tissue.

AGENT'S NOTES

Maybe, dyed buttons will give you the answer to your problem of "I just can't find buttons to match the color of my new fall dress."

You can find buttons either by color or by dye solution, depending on the type of button. Whenever method you use, experiment with one button before you plunge the whole batch into the dye solution.

For hot tinting, select real white pearl buttons. Other types might melt. Make a strong dye solution. Boil your buttons in the dye until they have the amount of color you want. It may take 10 or 15 minutes.

Use white luster buttons for the cool-dye-solution method. This type of button absorbs color quickly, so use a weak dye solution. Put the buttons in the dye, let them stay only a few seconds—or until they are the color you want—and then remove them.

Careful there! Be sure you turn the handles of the sauce pans away from the edge of the stove. A little hand could easily tip the pan if it touched the handle and spill hot food over little Susie for a bad burn.

SEPTEMBER, BILLOWY MERINGUE

Yes, that's what you want to adorn your pies, puddings and other food creations. One secret is to be sure the temperature of the filling of food the meringue will cover it not too hot. If it is too hot the meringue will "cry" or bead.

To insure perfect soft meringues, pile the stiffly beaten, sweetened or flavored mixture on lukewarm or room temperature foods. Make sure that the meringue "seals-in" the filling.

SEPTEMBER PLentiful

Fork is a leader of the September plentiful foods list. Cured pork, pork chops, roasts, spare ribs, ham, bacon, sausage—all favorites for menu variety. For something different on the meat platter, you should find good buys, too, in family-size turkeys.

You'll find milk to drink for a mid-afternoon refresher or a cool ade from lemons or limes. Fruit include pears and grapes.

Look for good supplies of lettuce, sweet corn, onions, green peppers and tomatoes.

Experiment Station Show Cost Of Improving Forests

State College, Miss.—What does forest improvement work cost? Prof. R. T. Clapp, head of forestry at Mississippi State University, has recently released some figures which, although not necessarily typical, may serve as a guide to land owners considering such work.

On the Northeast Mississippi Experiment Forest Improvement measures are carried out as a part of management. Cost records are kept in terms of man-hours, machine time and materials used.

A mist-blowing operation covered 40 acres at a cost of $6.50 per acre for labor, machine use and poison. This new method of controlling undesirable hardwood growth in pine stands has attracted more attention than any other demonstration in the forest.

Small droplets of oil and 2, 4, 5-T are blown from a nozzle. They form a mist which settles on the leaves, killing the hardwoods.

Loblolly pine planted by machine at the rate of 1,000 trees per acre on 55 acres cost $3.05 per acre for labor and machine use. This does not include the cost of the seedlings, which were raised in the department nursery.

Timber stand improvement work (gridding and poisoning worthless trees in stands of pulpwood and sawlog sized trees) were conducted on 240 acres of bottomland hardwoods for $3.93 per acre and on 221 acres of upland pine-hardwood for $6.40 per acre. The difference is due to the number of trees removed and will vary greatly from one stand to another.

All work except the mist-blowing experiment was done by experienced crews. Cost for inexperienced labor is likely to run higher.

Mr. Clapp's report on forestry research is published in the August issue of Mississippi Farm Research, available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

Farmers are being warned that it's the time of the year to watch for fall army worms. These pests feed in the buds of corn and grain sorghum, feast on small grain and pastures, and may attack old pastures and sudan fields. Certain insecticides will control the pests, but getting the insecticides down to the offering bud worm calls for spraying or dusting directly into the whorls of the plant.

Governor-Elect Ross Barnett to Make His First Public Address

Jackson, Miss. — Governor-Elect Ross Barnett will make his first public address after his landslide election to 1960 leading Mississippians at a $24-a-plate dinner in Jackson September 8.

Proceeds from the dinner will help finance the nationwide television and radio series, "Citizens' Council Forum," now in its third year of distribution.

Barnett, who won election in the August 25 runoff primary by an overwhelming margin, is an active member of the Jackson Citizens' Council.

The dinner will be held in the Victory Room of the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson, at 7 p. m., September 8 (Tuesday).

Louis W. Hollis, executive director of the Jackson Citizens' Council, who is in charge of ticket sales, says advance demand has been heavy. Hollis says tickets are available at $25 dollars each from the Council's office, 813 Plaza Building, from R. B. Patterson, Secretary of the Mississippi Association of Citizens' Councils in Greenwood, and from the newstand of the Heidelberg Hotel.

Governor-Elect Barnett will discuss a plan for Southern unity. During the campaign, he advocated the formation of close working relations between the Southern States. In his first post-election address, he is expected to outline more fully his plan for achieving unity of action, both on national political matters and in the even more vital field of molding public opinion.
